

Are all embassy filing fees included in your document legalization pricing?

No, embassy filing fees are NOT included in our embassy document legalization pricing. This is an additional cost that we clearly state on our website and our embassy document legalization order form.

This would be impossible to do since there are over 200+ different U.S foreign embassies and consulates in Washington, D.C, and each has its own fee structures for personal, corporate, and business documents.

We do not markup embassy filing fees at all, and you can go to the embassy website of the country where you need the legalization to verify the current document filing fees. You can contact us to tell us if your documents are personal or business-related and for what country they're going to, so we can tell you what the current embassy document filing fees are.

You can click the link below to see the 2025 embassy document fee list.

<https://www.apostilletexas.org/faqs/embassy-legalization/what-are-the-current-2024-u-s-foreign-embassy-document-filing-fees/>

Almost all U.S foreign embassies' filing fee charges are somewhere between $2-$300 per personal or business document to file. Except for the UAE, which charges $544.59, and Sudan $604 per business document filed (not personal documents, which are only $40.84 and $54.