

How fast can you legalize and attest my documents?

It's impossible to give an exact time because all two hundred plus U.S foreign embassies and consulates in Washington D.C vary greatly and they change constantly.

But in general, most foreign embassies take between 3-10 business days to issue a legalization on your documents once we hand submit your documents to them in person.

China is the exception to this time frame and currently, the Chinese Embassy is taking 10-15 business days to issue legalization certificates on documents submitted to them in person.
