

Can you rush apostille or authenticate a FBI criminal background check for me?

Yes, we can, but please note that FBI background check reports are only valid for three months. The U.S. Department of State will not issue a federal apostille or authenticate FBI criminal background checks that are older than three months.

Also, make sure you tell the company that you order through that your FBI criminal background check report will need an apostille or authentication on it afterward.

You only have to email us (unlike all other documents you don't have to mail to us to file) the original FBI background check report PDF that you downloaded off the FBI-approved channeler's website. You have to request this option at the time when you order your background check please note.
