

How do I get a FBI background check apostille?

First, you need to order and obtain your FBI background check from an FBI-approved channeler.

Please go to the official FBI page below to see a list of all the current FBI-approved channelers which you can order an FBI criminal background check and FBI identity history summary through.

Please note that FBI background checks are only valid for three months. The United States Department of State will not issue an FBI apostille certificate or FBI authentication certificate on your FBI criminal background check report or FBI identity history summary check report that is older than three months.

Once you have obtained your FBI background check, you will email us the FBI background check report PDF that you can receive and download from the FBI channeler's website that you used. But you must request the downloadable PDF option, otherwise, you'll only get your FBI background check report mailed to you. Then you will have to mail it to us instead of being able to quickly and for free email it to us.

We will then rush file your FBI background check report at the U.S Department of State in Washington, D.C, and mail it back to you or to whomever you want, since we require a prepaid return FedEx or UPS shipping label from you at the time of your order.
