

Can you obtain a new Texas birth certificate for me then rush apostille or authenticate it?

No, we can't.

You will need to contact the Texas county where the official birth occurred and then order a new certified Texas birth certificate from that county office. You can also have the county mail us your Texas birth certificate directly to apostille.