

How to apostille?

How to apostille a document is easy if you know the proper legal steps to take.

You file your document at one of the fifty United States secretaries of state offices or at the United States Department of State, which will issue an apostille certificate on a document that can be used to verify authenticity to a foreign country that is part of the 1961 Hague Convention Treaty.