How and where do I create and purchase a prepaid FedEx return shipping label?

Please note these desktop computer screenshots (not mobile) are what we see here in the United States on FedEx.com and using the Chrome Browser. What you will see at FedEx.com in another country or using a different internet browser may be different.

We only created this page to be used as a general guideline for you to follow so if you need any help creating and purchasing a prepaid return shipping label please call or email FedEx directly or visit a local FedEx Office near you.

Go to www.FedEx.com ==>

Then click on the Shipping tab ==>

Then click on the Create a Shipment tab on the drop-down menu ==>

Then select how fast and on what date you want your documents delivered and FedEx will give you various price quotes. The declared value amount is up to you enter but please note FedEx only insures and reimburses you for FREE up to a $100 value in case they lose or destroy your documents.

If your order is over $100 with Apostille Texas you might want to buy the inexpensive extra insurance which only costs $3 for $100.01-$300 value and $1 for every additional $100 value over $300. ==>

	Cancel Shipment Cre	eate New Shipment Print Label

When asked for the return ship date just enter the approximate date that Apostille Texas will receive your documents in the mail or the date when you create the label. The date doesn't matter at all because FedEx will reprint a new updated shipping label whenever we drop it off to them and prepaid labels do not expire.

When asked for the envelope weight just enter 8oz. When asked for the value of your shipment just enter $100 (you get $100 of free insurance with FedEx) or whatever extra amount you want to pay for in case your documents are lost by FedEx.

Then download the PDF shipping label that FedEx generates online and you can either email the PDF shipping label to us or you can print it out and mail it to us along with your documents. That's it.
