

How do you apostille a document in Texas?

To apostille a document in Texas you or an apostille service company that you contract with will rush hand file your original recordable documents or properly notarized original non-recordable documents at the Texas Secretary of State.

You must mail or drop off your original documents and you cannot email, fax, or text copies of documents into the state or to us.

Once your legal documents are accepted the TXSOS office will issue either a Texas apostille or authentication certification on your documents depending on what country they will be submitted to.