

How long does it take to get an apostille in Texas?

How long does it take to get an apostille in Texas depends on you.

If we receive your documents in the mail or you drop them off at our Austin, TX office by noon CST (Mon-Fri), we will rush file your documents at the Texas Secretary of State office that same day that we received your documents.

Then, depending on many factors, the state may or may not issue your apostille certificate that same day, or it could take up to 48 hours.