

How to request an apostille in Texas?

For you, to authenticate or apostille a document in Texas either you or an apostille services company that you hire will file your original recordable documents or your properly notarized original non-recordable documents at the Texas Secretary of State office.

You must either mail us or drop off your documents at our office to receive a Texas apostille or authentication certificate.

The State of State will then issue a Texas authentication or Texas apostille certificate on your legal documents depending on what foreign country they are being sent and submitted to.
